“New Directions in Renewable Energy Research in Colorado and the United States”

Is all the talk about renewable energies just hype or are we witnessing the new driver fostering growth in the global economy?

Come meet with David Hiller to discuss trends in renewable energies and keep pace with developments on both sides of the Atlantic.

Bob Snyder, President of CORA (Colorado-Rhone-Alps Economic Development Partnership) will also be present to report on what has been done over the past two years in terms of initiatives involving the two regions.

This event will be hosted during the week that the Denver delegation is present in Rhone-Alps; US experts in renewable energies (smart grids, tech transfer...) and representatives of the NREL (National Renewable Energy Laboratory) will make themselves available for you to meet with them and exchange insights on market trends emerging technologies and best practices.

A WORD ABOUT THE KEYNOTE SPEAKER

David Hiller is Executive Director of the Colorado Renewable Energy Collaboratory; Colorado is one of the most ambitious states in the United States in terms of its renewable energy goals.

Prior to joining CREC, Mr. Hiller served as policy advisor and representative for Senator Ken Salazar, now Secretary of the Interior in the Obama Administration.

He also organized the 2006 and 2007 Colorado Renewable Energy Summits.
